

Working Together

Logistics Insight Corporation was recently recognized by General Motors Corporation as being one of their top 20 carriers (out of over 140) in providing outstanding carrier performance on behalf of GM's North American Operations, Class of 2006.

LINC prides itself in measuring our performance internally and this award from GM is driven directly from their external measurement criteria involving on-time pick up & delivery on truckload and collection route transportation and on-time plant deliveries (within their specified windows) on shuttle services that LINC performs for GM.

By effectively measuring internal performance, LINC is able to identify and address low performing areas and staff, resulting in satisfying our customers' expectations and subsequently being recognized for continued improvements.
